trace kogan will go to any length to protect those who need protecting that is the business he is in the business his father casper kogan started with bryce trexler more than thirty five years ago trace spends day and night eliminating threats to clients so when the danger hits too close to home he won't let anything come between him and the woman who desperately needs his help his only fear the physical reaction he has to marissa may pose a bigger danger to them both than the ghost that they find themselves up against marissa trexler has spent the last twelve months of her life in hiding tucked away in one safe house after another for her own protection the threat to her is real even if the reason is still unknown strangely whoever is after her seems to find her no matter where she goes leading her family to believe it's an inside job so when the decision is made that trace will provide personal protection she can't say no even if being close to him adds another level of danger and this one is to her heart graphic novels kurimchaek are a major art form in north korea produced by agents of the regime to set out its vision in a range of important areas this book provides an analysis of north korean graphic novels discussing the ideals they promote and the tensions within those ideals and examining the reception of graphic novels in north korea and by north korean refugees in south korea particular themes considered include the ideal family and how the regime promotes this patriotism and its conflict with class identities and the portrayal of the korean war the fatherland liberation war as it is known in north korea and the subsequent continuing stand off overall the book demonstrates the importance of graphic novels in north korea as a tool for bringing up children and for promoting north korean ideals in addition however the book also shows that although the regime sees the imaginative power of graphic novels as a necessity for effective communication graphic novels are also viewed with caution in that they exist in everyday social life in ways that the regime may be aware of and seeks to control but cannot dominate completely the second of two volumes presenting all four hardboiled graphic crime novels by jean patrick manchette and tardi like a sniper lining up his shot martin terrier killer for hire needs just one more big job so that he can turn in his guns for good and return home to marry his childhood sweetheart but soon he s on the run not only from the authorities and his treacherous ex clients but also from a crime syndicate seeking revenge for an earlier hit on one of theirs in run like crazy run like hell philanthropist michael hartog hires julie just out of a psychiatric asylum as a nanny but he plans to fake the kidnapping of his son peter and frame julie for it but julie is no pushover and soon julie and peter are on the run pursued by the police and by hartog s enforcer the hulking contract killer thompson graffiti and street art images are ubiquitous and they enjoy a very special place in collective imaginary due to their ambiguous nature sometimes enigmatic in meaning often stylistically crude and aesthetically aggressive yet always visually arresting they fill our field of vision with texts and images that no one can escape as they take place on surfaces and travel through various channels they provide viewers an entry point to the subtext of the cities we live in while questioning how we read write and represent them this book is structured around these three distinct albeit by definition interwoven key frames the contributors of this volume critically investigate underexplored urban contexts in which graffiti and street art appear shed light on previously unexamined aspects of these practices and introduce innovative methodologies regarding the treatment of these images throughout the focus is on the relationship of graffiti and street art with urban space and the various manifestations of these idiosyncratic meetings in this book the emphasis is shifted from what the physical texts say to what these practices and their produced images do in different contexts all chapters are original and come from experts in various fields such as architecture urban studies sociology criminology anthropology and visual cultures as well as scholars that transcend traditional disciplinary frameworks this exciting new collection is essential reading for advanced undergraduates as well as postgraduates and academics interested in the subject matter it is also accessible to a non academic audience such as art practitioners and policymakers alike or anyone keen on deepening their knowledge on how graffiti and street art affect the ways urban environments are experienced understood and envisioned
